How often do you meet with clients?

We work behind the scenes every day so our clients don’t have to sweat the small stuff. However, we find it to be very important to maintain a regular, on-going conversation with our clients so everyone stays in the loop and we can approach opportunities and challenges as they come up. Our clients can select from several convenient platforms to meet with us at a time and frequency that fits their needs, including face-to-face meetings in our conference room, off-site meetings, online video conferencing, and phone calls.
